DETAILED ACTION
EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Thomas Preston on June 30, 2005.

The application has been amended as follows:

Claim 1,

Replace "characterized in that" by "the method comprising the step of: electronically process"

Claim 14,

Replace "characterized in that" by "the method comprising the step of: electronically process"

Claim 15,

Replace "characterized in that a receiver" by "the method comprising the step of: a receiver to electronically select"

Claim 16,

After "the step of:" insert "electronically"

Claim 18,

After “the step of:” insert “electronically”

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-12 and 14-26 are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:
  - a. Applicant disclose an inventive concept to provide an information distributing method and system by which the above problem is solved and in which when information subjected to billing is distributed, an amount of money billed when information is distributed once reflects automatically the intention of information offerer and the estimation of user. Applicant's concept is novel an innovative in the sense that an amount of money billed every time the information is distributed once is determined depending on the number of times that the information has previously been distributed to at least one user within a predetermined time period each amount of money being determined independently for each time information is distributed. Rosenthal, the closest prior art teach an information distribution system is adapted for receiving communications from subscribers via facsimile, telephone calls, the Internet, etc., in which new subscribers can initially be registered with the system, and which current subscribers can add new areas of interest, delete others, and otherwise modify various parameters by which the information is delivered to the recipient. Rosenthal fail to teach an amount of money billed every time the information is distributed once is determined depending on the number of times that the information has previously been distributed to at least one user within a predetermined time period each amount of money being determined independently for each time information is distributed.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

b. Derrick (U.S. Patent No 6,148,301) teach a system where each unit of information has an associated cost type and cost value that are used to calculate a price for the information. The cost may be pay per view, pay per byte, pay per time, etc. When the end user requests consumption of information, the metering mechanism determines whether the end user can consume the information.

c. Roestenburg (WO 02/33574 A2) teach a system wherein information is communicated in relation to communication to web content.
